

IF YOUR HOME WAS BUILT BEFORE 1978, IT COULD CONTAIN LEAD-BASED PAINT

According to the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development (HUD), 24 million homes in the United States have peeling or chipping lead-based paint or high levels of lead dust.

The older your home, the greater the chances of having a lead-based paint hazard.

WHAT ARE THE RISKS?

Small children are most at risk from the dangers of lead-based paint.

Lead dust can cause problems, especially for young children and babies. It can stick to children's hands and toys and can be brought into the home from porches and soil from around the home. Lead dust is hard to see and is most commonly found on windowsills and floor surfaces.

Exposure to lead can have serious health effect to children such as

- Behavioral problems
- Damage to the body's vital organs
- Learning deficiencies
- Difficulty with speech and language

6 Ways to Stay Lead Safe

1. Get your home checked for lead hazards.
2. Wash children's hands, bottles, pacifiers and toys often
3. NEVER let children play near or eat peeling paint chips
4. Keep your home clean and dust-free. Wipe with a wet sponge around painted areas where friction can generate dust, such as doors, windows, and drawers
5. For home repairs only hire Lead Certified contractors
6. Make sure children eat healthy, low-fat foods high in iron, calcium, and vitamin C.
